FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE*Allan Cohen Obtains Certified Information Technology Credential

January 22, 2008 (Timonium, MD) – Allan Cohen is the managing partner of Naden/Lean, LLC and Director of Strategic Technology Planning for Next Level Technology. Next Level Technology is a division of Naden/Lean that provides comprehensive strategic technology planning, design, installation, training and support. Cohen has just received the Certified Information Technology (CITP) credential from the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA). The CITP certification (Certified Information Technology Professional), established by the AICPA in 2000, distinguishes CPAs who are also information technology professionals. A CITP must pass certification criteria that ensure their understanding of business procedures and information technology. Because they understand both, they are able to apply technology effectively at their firm and their client's businesses, helping businesses achieve a higher level of success. In addition, the CITP designation carries with it ongoing continuing education requirements so that holders stay current with trends and technologies which can benefit their firms.
